INTRO

Durban is the only place in the world where you can do a bungee swing from the arch of a sports stadium and it is also the largest of its kind anywhere. That is some record to beat! Few things beat the adrenaline rush when you launch yourself into space, trusting in your safety harness for the ground is very far below; in fact 106 metres straight down. We all need excitement in our lives; so forget for a while about work, studies, or whatever else. Come experience the ultimate "Urban adrenaline" fix and swing in an arc of 220 metre across the World Cup football pitch when you jump from the stadium arch. Afterwards make all your friends green with envy when you tell them all about it, or rub it in a little more when you show them the video of your bungee swing jump in Durban's Moses Mabhida Stadium.

MORE

What is the deal? What to expect

- Upon arrival at the Durban stadium you first of all hand in a signed indemnity waiver form.

- Next the crew takes you to the base of the stadium's arch for the ascent after you have been hooked to a safety line.

- The Jump Master will only clear you for the jump after he has assured himself that you fully understand the whole jump procedure and he feels you are ready to take that unbelievable leap.
- Countdown...3-2-1 STEP!
- You free-fall for 60 metres into the void building up a speed above 120 kph and swing out in a graceful arc of 220 metres over the pitch.
