INTRO

You can bungee jump, shark cage dive or try any other adrenaline activity, but it just isn't skydiving and it won't stand up to the expectation and adrenalin rush that you get from a free fall followed by a parachuted float down to earth.

Plettenberg Bay offers you one of the world's most scenic skydiving drop zones to make the most of your entire experience. So, when you choose to skydive here you will not only get the adrenalin rush of a lifetime, you will also be presented with fantastic aerial photographic opportunities while you drift back to touch down.

MORE

What is the deal?

Skydive over Plettenberg Bay from 10,000 feet up with a Tandem Master

Where is it?

Based at the Plettenberg Bay Airport, just outside Plettenberg Bay town, on the Garden Route, 5 hours drive East of Cape Town

When is the best time to do it?

All year round, weather permitting

What to bring:

- Dress comfortably, a jumpsuit will be provided. No slip on shoes or other shoes that may fall off, wear only shoes that will stay securely on your feet during the jump.
- You may wear your glasses, contact lenses or sunglasses for the jump, special goggles that fit over your glasses are provided.
- You may bring a camera along to take aerial photographs, a piece of cord is provided in order to hang it around your neck so that it does not get dropped during the jump.

We do open-date gift vouchers that you can hand to the recipients as gifts on a special day. This allows the recipient the flexibility to make the final booking on a date that suits his/her personal schedule. This also turns the gift into a “double whammy” gift as the recipient receives the voucher on the special day and then has the anticipation of going on the adventure on a suitable date.

Our open date vouchers are valid for a period of 6 months from date of issue; this is a precaution to guard against price increases only, the value of the voucher is never lost. Should the participant not use the voucher within that time period, the value is still there, and if there has been no price increases, the recipient uses the voucher as is. If after the six months grace period there has been a price increase, the recipient will be liable to pay in the price difference only.

INTINERARY

More About The Jump

Briefing: After you sign up for the skydive, you meet your Tandem Master and there is a short briefing, then it is time to kit up. The harness you will be wearing is fully adjustable with 4 attachment points and that is it really. All you have to do from that point on is to enjoy the 20-minute flight to 10,000 feet during which the views of Plettenberg Bay and Robberg Peninsula are awesome.

The jump itself: Before you reach 10,000 feet your Tandem Master will attach you to his harness via the 4 attachment points and once at altitude its time to take the plunge. Once you take that step out of the airplane you are in for the time of your life as you enter a 35 second free fall at 200 kmph. After the 35-40 second mark the parachute opens and you can enjoy taking the reins for the remaining 3-4 minutes of airtime that you have before you touch down on earth again. No parachuting experience is necessary, as your Tandem Master is there to guide you.

The Flight: You can enjoy spectacular views while you are drifting back to earth by parachute; take the opportunity to take some exquisite photographs. You can have the entire adventure captured on DVD for you to take home and treasure upon your request. All in all, you get to take home an unforgettable experience, certification to prove it, an optional extra DVD is you would like and the memory that will last forever.

Please Note

Booking is essential

The airplane used is a Cessna 182 capable of carrying 4 persons and the pilot.

Strong winds and rain may prohibit skydiving activities from taking place, jumps are only undertaken in safe conditions

Landings are usually done at the airstrip, but beach landings can be arranged subject to prior request and can only be confirmed on the day due to unpredictable weather conditions. Beach landings are subject to an additional charge.

There is a strict alcohol and drug use policy; none is to be used or taken prior to your jump.

Skydiving is considered a high-risk activity and there are risks involved, as with all other extreme sport activities. However, our partners are certified with the Civil Aviation Authority and the Parachute Association of South Africa, the CAA and the PASA respectively. All equipment used and aircraft are of the highest standards and staff members are all well trained and qualified.

If the initial parachute fails to open, there is a secondary, backup, parachute that can be opened in a case of an emergency. It is also worth noting that all parachutes used will automatically open via an automated device whether the instructor manually opens them or not.

Age and weight restrictions

Minimum age restriction: There is no minimum age restriction for skydiving activities. However, the person participating must be of a size big enough to fit the harness safely without the possibility of slipping out. For minors younger than the age of 18 years written consent from the parents is required.

Maximum age restriction: There is no age restriction, is you are jumping fit then you are more than welcome to enjoy the ride of your life.

Maximum weight restriction: For tandem jumps, there is a weight restriction of 100kgs due to safety reasons.

Additional restrictions: If you suffer from any injuries or illnesses please contact us in advance to discuss whether you qualify for skydiving activities, alternatively seek advice from your doctor before booking.
