The Cape is renowned for its beautiful coastline and abundance of marine life so boat trips to the islands and along the coast is extremely popular. Once a year though, when the whales migrate and come close in to our coast, people flock to come and whale watch and locals and visitors alike come to experience what it feel like to be close up to these incredible creatures.

Every year between June and November the whales come to our protected coasts to calve in the shelter. We hold the sole permit for boat-based whale watching in the western half of the False Bay area from between Cape Point and Strandfontein. Whale watching in this area is simply great as the area is sheltered from the open sea, allowing passengers to have an excellent whale watching experience.

It is usual on a whale watching trip to see South Right Whales, Brydes Whales, Humpback Whales and also dolphins and Killer Whales.

We do open-date gift vouchers that you can hand to the recipients as gifts on a special day. This allows the recipient the flexibility to make the final booking on a date that suits his/her personal schedule. This also turns the gift into a "double whammy" gift as the recipient receives the voucher on the special day and then has the anticipation of going on the adventure on a suitable date.

Our open date vouchers are valid for a period of 6 months from date of issue; this is a precaution to guard against price increases only, the value of the voucher is never lost. Should the participant not use the voucher within that time period, the value is still there, and if there has been no price increases, the recipient uses the voucher as is. If after the six months grace period there has been a price increase, the recipient will be liable to pay in the price difference only.
